Stay focused. Pay attention. Expect the unexpected.

Answers:

1. friends – Adding passengers adds to risks on the road. If you bring friends along, make sure to keep your focus on your driving.
2. burgers – Eating and drinking without spilling ketchup on your shirt is difficult enough when you're not dodging traffic!
3. directions – Whether you're using MapQuest or trying to follow GPS, let someone else navigate while you keep your eyes on the road.
4. daydreaming – Stay in reality or you may wake up in a nightmare!
5. makeup – Look away from the road to look in the mirror, and the makeup may not make much of a difference.
6. emotions – When you're mad, sad, or just generally upset, it's not a good time to be behind the wheel.
7. reading – Reading texts, emails, articles, or anything else while driving is completely unsafe. It can all wait until you make it to your destination safely!
8. music – Your car is not the place to blast your favorite song or put on your best solo performance. Keep it down to where you can hear what's going on around you.
9. texting – It takes more than your thumb to send a text. It also takes away your attention, concentration, and most importantly — your line of sight!
10. conversation – Whether talking on your cell or to someone right next to you, don't let your attention turn from what's in front of you. Hang up and save the latest news for later!
